

TAX CUT RESOLUTION BEFORE SENATE TODAY

NOT A SINGLE
OBJECTION TO MEASURE HEARD

PROSPECTS FOR EARLY PASSAGE
OF $160,000,000 CUT APPEAR BRIGHT

NORRIS MUSCLE SHOALS BILL TO BE NEXT THING FOR CONSIDERATION

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 13. — Without a single objection, the administration's $160,000,000 tax cut resolution was brought before the senate today.

Prospects for early passage were bright although the parliamentary situation will offer opponents of the resolution an opportunity later to block the resolution if they choose.

The brief debate which preceded adoption of a unanimous consent agreement for consideration of the resolution indicated the opponents would let the resolution pass without serious delay.

In the agreement, which brought the matter before the senate, was a gentleman's understanding among the leaders that the Norris resolution for optional government operation of Muscle Shoals would be brought up as soon as the tax bill is out of the way.

Republican Floor Leader Watson gave public assurances to the effect.
Chairman Smoot of the finance committee opened the tax debate urging that the measure would be beneficial to industry and individuals. The corporations will get $90,000,000 of the reduction and individuals but $60,000,000, he admitted, but contended the percentage of reduction was greater for individuals.

Normal tax rates are to be cut, he explained from 1½ per cent to half of one per cent on the first $4,000 of income, from 3 per cent to 2 per cent on the next $4,000 and from 5 per cent to 4 per cent on the third $4,000. The corporation tax is to be reduced from 12 to 11 per cent.

More than 2,000,000 individuals will be benefited by the reduction, he argued.
Smoot's statement was preliminary to the fight of the farm bloc to prove their contention that it is "a Wall Street tax reduction."

In urging consideration of Muscle Shoals, Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, asserted tax reduction would not benefit southern farmers, because they do not make enough now to pay taxes.

The house was working on the agricultural department appropriation bill.

Washington, Dec. 13. — The house committee on public buildings voted a favorable report today on the Elliott bill authorizing additional appropriation of $250,000,000 for construction of government buildings in the District of Columbia and throughout the country.

NATIONALISTS
CLAIM VICTORYTHOUSANDS OF CHINESE REBELS SLAIN AND WOUNDED AT CANTON

Shanghai, Dec. 13.—The nationalist government claimed a complete and decisive victory against rebel forces near Canton today with thousands slain and wounded in the fighting.

A Nuo Min News Agency dispatch said the government estimated 7,000 of rebel Ironsides troops had been killed or wounded, and 5,000 of the Kwangsi insurgents had been slain.

Meanwhile, the nationalist government troops under Chiang Kai-Shek struck with suddenness and determination against rebels in the northern sections.

A general attack, which had been under preparation for three days, was made against the rebel concentration at Chengchow, which is in Honan province, about 325 miles from Nanking.

Fighting started west of Chengchow.

Simultaneously with the start of the engagement in Honan province the nationalist forces in Shantung province, which is north of Honan and northwest of Nanking, were ordered to advance southward against rebels.

The Shantung troops were moving on rebel forces which were attempting to seize the Tientsin-Pukow railway.
The railway runs northward from Pukow, near Nanking through Shantung province.

Nationalist troops were rounding up the remnants of the rebel armies today. The rebel Ironsides leader, Chang Fa-Kwei, was reported fleeing northward after the battle.

SHOOT AND KILLS
WIFE, STEPFATHER
AND THEN FLEES

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 13.—(U.P.)

ator service man, shot and killed his estranged wife, Catherine, and her stepfather, Richard Price, early today and then fled in his automobile.

Sleet, Snow, Fog Add to Peril of Friday, Dec. 13

MESSAGE ON DUSTY
HOTEL MIRROR IS ONLY CLUE IN CASE

Great Falls, Mont., Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—The message "I love you and must leave you," scrawled with a finger-tip on a dusty hotel mirror, was the only clue today to the strange life of Mary Harrigley, 24, pretty Minneapolis girl.

Her body, dressed in men's clothing, was found lying across the bed. She had taken poison yesterday.

The girl was arrested here last summer for posing as a man. She had been working as a harvest hand in the wheat fields. The Women's Welfare association attempted to send her back to Minneapolis but she escaped.

BROACH CHOSEN
ELECTRICAL HEAD

Elevated to Presidency of International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers

CHIEF OVER 150,000

Will Divide Time Between New York and Washington Headquarters of Union

The New York Times on its front page Wednesday, December 11, carried the following story relative to H.
H. Broach who is well known in Brainerd and district where he spends summer vacations and maintains a lovely summer residence near Pe-quot.

The elevation of H. H. Broach to the presidency of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, succeeding the late J. P. Noonan, who died of accidental burns last week in Washington, D. C., has made Mr.
Broach, who is 37 years old, the youngest president of an international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Broach, for ten years a vice president of the union, is now the leader of 150,000 electrical workers scattered all over the United States and Canada. Mr. Broach looks much younger than his age. He is of medium size, with blond hair which he parts in the middle. He is known in trade union circles as a "hustler" and a progressive, "business type" of executive and leader. He preaches the gospel of keeping fit and his favorite advice to associates is to keep up regular exercise.

Mr. Broach was the unanimous choice of the union's executive council, although he had persistently sought to avoid being named president. His work in New York for the last three years brought him to public notice on several occasions. He reorganized the local union, dismissed men charged with grafting and re-arranged the affairs of the organization.

Last year Mr. Broach fought for the five-day week for the members of the local union and when the concession was granted by the employers other trades made similar demands, which were granted by the employers last August despite a contract which was to run until the end of this year.

Mr. Broach has been a member of the union for 21 years. Beginning as a member of the Oklahoma City local, he became recording secretary of the local union, then business representatives of the Des Moines local, national organizer for the union and then vice president. When Mr. Noonan was elevated to the presidency from the vice presidency in 1919 Mr.
Broach succeeded him in the post of vice president.

Mr. Broach will, for the present, divide his time between New York and the Washington headquarters of the international union.

SAYS HUSBANDS
SHOULD HELP WIVES

ALTERNATE WITH THEM IN COOKING, SWEEPING, BATH-ING BABY, ETC.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(U.P.) — Husbands should alternate with their wives in cooking, sweeping, bathing the baby and doing other housework, Mrs. Arthur J. Todd informed her husband's class in advanced sociology at Northwestern University.

Prof. Todd had been scheduled to address his students yesterday on the subject: "Are housewives worth their salt." Instead he asked his wife to speak on the subject.

"A husband should do as much housework as his wife," she said.
"Further, a husband and wife each should hold a part time job instead of the husband working full time. By doing so each would have economic freedom and they would be partners in every undertaking."

Young Chicago Professor Isolates Flu Germ, Hopes to Get Antitoxin to Stem the ScourgeGERM LOOKS LIKE A CHAIN OF
UNMATCHED BEADS

HE AND 14 ASSISTANTS TOILED
16 HOURS A DAY TO FIND
ELUSIVE GERM

USED 215 MONKEYS AS SUBJECTS, FOUND RABBITS DO NOT
CONTRACT FLU

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—As a Christmas gift to the world six arduous years in the making, a modest young University of Chicago professor announced the discovery and isolation of the influenza germ, with promise of a hopeful prospect for an antitoxin that will stem the scourge.

Sixty students assembled in a cluttered, acid stained laboratory last night heard the momentous announcement from the lips of Dr. Isidore S.
Falk, 30-year-old professor of hygiene and bacteriology.

He referred to the germ as of the pleomorphic streptococcus type and said it looks "like a microscopic chain of unmatched beads which a child has strung together."

Simply, as if announcing details of a new lecture course, the tall, dark-haired young scientist told his listeners about the germ and how it was discovered, giving much of the credit to his assistants. There was nothing in his manner to indicate he was becoming, as he spoke, a conspicuous figure and an outstanding candidate for the next Nobel prize.

"We are hoping," he said, "that a vaccine prepared from dead microbes of the influenza germ can be absorbed through the mucous membranes of the nose and throat and thus effect a cure."

With 14 members of the biological department to aid him, Dr. Falk toiled during the epidemic a year ago working 16 hours or more a day.

The corps of scientists "mobilized" on Dec. 12, 1928, to concentrate every effort toward carrying to successful fruition the five years of research their leader had devoted since his graduation from Yale.

An alarm clock, its gong set to ring every half hour, was on Dr. Falk's laboratory table. Only in that way could he keep his eyes open to continue the quest, so heavily did the strain weigh upon him.

"We could not know," he said whimsically, "when another epidemic would be upon us and of course our work was possible in that scope only in time of epidemic."

A troop of Rhesus monkeys, 125 in all, unwittingly contributed invaluable assistance in discovering the germ that had claimed thousands of lives among their human brothers. Various strains of germs were kept alive in the blood streams of the Simians, available for withdrawal for further microscopic examination.

Coincidentally, it was on Christmas day last year that the first "suspect" germ was isolated. Even then more than 3,800 different microbes had been studied. By a gradual process of elimination, that host was reduced to eight general types, and then to an individual germ.

The germ which later was proved responsible for influenza, was taken from the blood of Miss R. A. McKinney, one of the assistants who complained of feeling ill at midnight after a strenuous day.

Time after time, Dr. Falk's loyal assistants contracted the disease dur-

300,000 BUSHELS
OF GRAIN LOST IN ELEVATOR FIRE

Minneapolis, Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—
More than 300,000 bushels of grain was destroyed here early today when the Sterling Grain company's elevator was partially razed with losses estimated at $500,000.
The blaze was believed caused by spontaneous combustion. Nearly 1,000,000 bushels of grain in adjoining concrete storage bins were saved.

AUBURN PRISON IS OUTWARDLY QUIET

INSIDE IT SEETHES WITH RE-NEWED HATRED OF
DESPERATE MEN

Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—De-crepid, over-crowded Auburn prison was outwardly quiet today—but inside it seethed with the renewed hatred of desperate men and official uncertainty, the aftermath of Wednesday's wild outbreak in which the principal keeper and eight convicts died.

There were still eight revolvers somewhere within those grey walls.
At the height of the rebellion, when nearly a score of convicts tried to bargain for their freedom with the life of Warden Edgar S. Jennings, they had a dozen guns. Every prisoner was searched, every cell turned upside down, but only four revolvers were recovered. While the convicts are kept locked in their cells, there can be no renewed rebellion. But they cannot be shivering there indefinitely with no exercise and no work. What will happen when they are taken out, no one can tell.

The fact that nearly 100 state troopers have been assigned to augment permanently the regular prison guard attests to official uncertainty.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt announced he would call a special supreme court term to try the ringleaders of the revolt for the murder of Principal Keeper George A. Durnford, with the death penalty to be asked.

ing the year of intensive research, despite greatest sanitary precautions.
None complained. If able to be up, they carried on, sleeping on desks so as not to lose a minute.

Although the discovery and isolation was complete, Dr. Falk, with the caution of the Jewish race, delayed the announcement.

Dr. Falk was impressed with the monkey phase of his work.
An English research group apparently discovered the germ several years ago but abandoned experiments on the point of proof, Dr. Falk said, because they used rabbits and when they failed to contract the disease, gave up.

"Rabbits are not subject to influenza," Dr. Falk said. "Monkeys are and displayed much the same effects as do humans."

Dr. Falk said influenza, while causing countless deaths, has never killed of itself.

"Its danger lies in the fact it so weakens the body as to make it easy prey for the germs of other diseases," he said.

Dr. Falk joined the University of Chicago faculty after graduation from Yale in 1923 with a Ph. D. degree. He is married and has two sons. His family home was in Brooklyn, N. Y.

NEW SENATOR,
JOSEPH R. GRUNDY,
TAKES HIS SEAT

MOVES INTO CAPITOL FROM HIS DOWNTOWN TARIFF HEAD-QUARTERS

DEBATE LOOMS ON COUZENS AMENDMENT, REDUCTION IN CAPITAL GAINS TAX

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 13. — The new senator, Joseph R. Grundy, republican, Pennsylvania, moved into capitol today from his downtown tariff headquarters, as the senate laid aside the tariff bill temporarily to pass the house $160,000,000 tax reduction resolution.

Debate on the Couzens amendment proposing a reduction of from 12½ to 10 per cent on the capital gains tax may prevent final enactment of the resolution before adjournment tonight, but the leaders are confident of adoption tomorrow.

They plan no change in the simple resolution of the house lowering individual and corporation taxes by one per cent all along the line. They expect to send the measure to the White House for signature as soon as it has passed the senate.

It was with obvious relief the senate turned to a bill upon which it is almost unanimous, after the hectic tariff sessions of recent days and the bitterness manifest yesterday in the debate before Senator Grundy was sworn.

The Grundy case was accepted as a closed matter, except that the presence of "the granddaddy of all lobbyists" is expected to arouse spectacular senate debates.

No untoward action against Grundy is expected from the reference of a resolution proposing to oust him, which was sent to the privileges and elections committee.

The committee undoubtedly will report Grundy's credentials were authentic and he will be permitted to continue in his seat.

Even some of Grundy's political enemies appeared glad to see him. The defense of his right to a seat came mostly from democrats, and Democratic Floor Leader Robinson referred to him as "an amiable gentleman."

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Mont., said his appointment was an insult to the senate and the country, and Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, said it created a "stench in the nostrils of decent citizens."

Frequent reference was made to Grundy's attacks upon western states as "backward commonwealths" and Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina, sought to infer the political associates of Secretary of Treasury Mellon were not eager to seat Grundy's unsuccessful predecessor, William S.
Vare, because, in reality, they wanted Grundy.

While these matters occupied the senate, the house spent the day in general debate. The agriculture department appropriation bill is to come up Saturday and a resolution appropriating $50,000 to enable President Hoover to send a commission to Haiti is to be adopted early next week.

NEW OHIO RIVER BRIDGE

The new Ohio River bridge connecting Madison, Ind., and Milton, Ky., built at a cost of $3,000,000, will be thrown open to traffic and dedicated on December 20. More than 15,000 persons from nearby states are expected to attend the dedication exercises.

UNSUNG LITTLE HEROINE MAY LOSE HER FEET

Chinook, Mont., Dec. 13.—(U.P.)— An unsung little heroine lay on a hospital cot here today while physicians battled to prevent an amputation of her feet.

Six years old Agnes Hundley's love for her mother, a widow, seriously ill at her home near Clear Creek, caused her to face a blinding snowstorm, without shoes or stockings, to bring her aid.

Near exhaustion from the intense cold and snow, the child reached a neighbor's home and aid was finally sent to the sick mother. But Agnes, her feet frozen, was removed to a hospital.

CONNIE FRANKLIN
PUZZLE REMAINS
AN UNSOLVED ONE

BELIEVED MAN OF MYSTERY
WHO SAYS HE IS FRANKLIN IS IMPOSTER

ONE OF THE STRANGEST TRIALS
EVER CONDUCTED TO OPEN
IN OZARK HILLS

By DUKE MERRITT

(United Press Special Correspondent) Mountain View, Ark., Dec. 13.—The fantastic Connie Franklin puzzle, on which the lives of five men may depend, remained unsolved today.

Opinion was veering, however, toward the belief that the Connie Franklin that Tiller Ruminer claims was snatched from her side on a lonely mountain trail and burned to death really is dead and the man of mystery who says he is Connie Franklin is an imposter.

A man who knows Connie Franklin well was in Mountain View today and although he had not seen the "resurrected Franklin," declared he could not be his friend of former years.

Coleman Foster, who returned to this mystery-muddle hamlet of the Ozarks from Oklahoma yesterday, said Connie Franklin's hair was light.
The man who "came back from the dead" had dark hair. Foster described Franklin as considerably shorter than the man who claims his name.

"I was an intimate friend of Connie's," Foster said. "I have shaved him and cut his hair many times. He was a blond, about 31 years old, and had a wife from whom he was separated."

Many, however, were unconvinced and the tension among the hill folk was drawn even tauter as the opening of the trial of the five mountaineers charged with the murder of the mountain lover drew nearer. Monday, in the stone court house here, the strange drama of the Ozarks will approach its climax. In a court room guarded against feud violence by 20 armed deputy sheriffs, the man who claims he is Franklin will appear to save the five from the noose.

Coleman Foster was guarded by deputies today to prevent friends of the accused men carrying out threats against him. The other principals, Tiller, the 17-year-old girl-woman from the hills; Charlie Ruminer, her father; and other witnesses, have all been under guard of the sheriff's men.

To match the story of Foster denying Connie Franklin has come back, Monroe Grimes and Ody Burns came forward today to add their word that Tiller Ruminer's murder story was a myth and that the only Connie Franklin there ever was will be at the trial Monday.

Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Williamson, who will face his brother, Benny Williamson, chief of defense counsel, in the court battle, declared today the trial would begin as scheduled unless Foster should change his story when he confronts the "man from the grave."

Sheriff Sam Johnson, his giant bulk towering even above the lank mountaineers, began serving 48 summonses for veniemen from which to pick a jury.

That jury will sit in one of the strangest trials ever conducted, with one of the most picturesque groups ever assembled as spectators.

The Hookers will be there, four of the family named Bill, there is Shovel Tooth Bill Hooker, Red Bill, Hooley
Bill and Buffalo Bill.

Slat-eyed Bill Younger from beyond Possum College on Roaring Creek will be there, as will his brother, Long Bill Younger. Another will be Fiddling Bill Canare, who plays for the square dances here about. The three Johns of the Fulk family—Black John, Red John and White John—will appear.
Their brother Aleck is one of the defendants.

Why four members of one family are named Bill and why three in another, John, is as much a mystery to an observer from the outside as the amazing tangle of the Connie Franklin case.

The spirit of Christmas seals will never die as long as the Christmas spirit itself lives.

KEEP AIRMAIL ON GROUND, DE-LAY TRAIN AND CAR
TRAVEL

IN CHICAGO FOG AND SMOKE
BLANKET TURNS DAY
INTO GLOOM

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—Sleet, snow and fog added to the peril of Friday the 13th over most of the middle west and the Canadian west today.

Heavy fog, giving way in places to snow or rain, blanketed the central states, keeping air mail planes on the ground and delaying train and automobile movement. In Chicago, the fog and smoke blanket turned day into a murky gloom almost as dark as night.

At Winnipeg, the mercury was near zero, following a sudden drop of 20 degrees from yesterday's mild level.
It was 22 below zero at Edmonton, Alberta, and 2 below at Medicine Hat.
Several points in Saskatchewan registered 16 below.

Sleet still covered southern Minnesota. Traffic accidents were numerous in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Telephone and telegraph lines suffered severely but had been repaired generally by today.

San Francisco, Dec. 13. — Airplane, motor and train transportation was disrupted today by flood and storm conditions prevailing in several sections of the state.

Southern Pacific trains were delayed by a truck washout near Kennett.
Automobile roads between Reno, Nev., and Sacramento, over the Sierras, were closed by snow.

Sheep ranchers in the northern reaches of the Sacramento river valley were warned by the weather bureau that floods might be expected.

Rivers were rising rapidly under the downpour of rain that has fallen steadily and bids fair to continue throughout the week.

INDIAN SITUATION
IS APPALLING

STATEMENT OF GOVERNOR'S WIFE BORNE OUT BY OFFI-CIAL REPORTS

St. Paul, Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Theodore Christanson's stirring appeal on Thursday for money, food and clothing for Minnesota's destitute Chippewas, was followed here today by an official report by the state advisory council on Indian affairs which bore out statements by the governor's wife that the Indians were in need of help.

As trains and trucks "rushed out of the capital with bread and other food, donated by many individuals and firms, as a result of Mrs. Christanson's appeal, the advisory council reported to the governor that the Indians actually faced starvation.

With the arrival of cold weather, following an unprofitable summer and fall, many families, particularly the children, are in need of warm clothing, nourishing food and medical attention, the report stated.

"Clothing and shoes are desperately needed by many children of the preschool and school ages. Voluntary contributions should be solicited and arrangements should be made for transportation and distribution of supplies by reliable persons."

The failure of truck gardens, the blueberry and wild rice crops, was said to be among the principal causes of destitution.

HAY CREEK RIPPLES

The Hay Creek Ripples club of St. Mathias held their meeting on Home Management Wednesday at the G. Koering store room. The subject for the meeting was "Convenient Kitchens."

The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by Mrs. Ralph Reid, chairman. "America the Beautiful" was sung, and roll call taken by Mrs. Kruger, secretary. A few members were missing on account of sickness.

The club voted on each member giving a small amount to pay expenses for sending a club member to the Home Maker's short course in January. Four dollars must be raised for this.

The leaders took over the lesson on the shape and size of kitchens, explaining the working centers, grouping equipment and supplies, food center, serving center and the cleaning center. It was enjoyed by all present.

Each member scored the kitchen which was thoroughly enjoyed. The scores were not so high, but it is hoped before the lessons are completed all will score higher.

A social time was enjoyed and a lunch served. The next meeting will be held in February at the home of Mrs. F. Koering.

DANGER LIES IN BULKLESS DIETS

Eat ALL-BRAN and Prevent Constipation

Thousands of people wonder why they are suffering when they try to be so careful regarding their diet. They have headaches, bad complexions and are unhappy because their old-time strength and vigor are gone.

Constipation is often the cause of this bad health. And lack of bulk in the diet is usually the cause of constipation. Roughage is needed daily to sweep the system clean of poisonous wastes. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply this roughage.

ALL-BRAN works as nature works. It is guaranteed to bring relief — to prevent constipation.

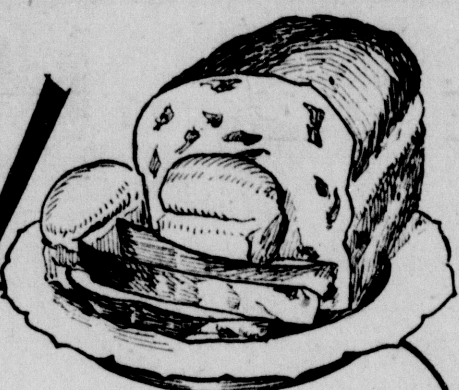

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily — chronic cases, with every meal.

Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Delicious in flavor. Add it to your muffins and other hot breads. Try the recipes on the package. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Sold by all grocers.

Senior Class Memorial Gift

THE Senior class of the Brainerd high school has commissioned Mrs. Sarah T. Heald to paint a large panel representing the coming of the white man to Crow Wing county, as its memorial gift to the school. The picture will measure five by eight feet and be built in over the book cases at the end of the library in the new building. The statue of Joan of Arc, which was the memorial gift of the class of 1929, will also grace this beautiful room.

Mrs. Heald asks any of the townspeople who have photographs of the river, particularly at the bend opposite the tourist camp, to loan them to her to help in the composition of this picture, as she wishes to make it geographically and historically authentic, as far as possible, so that it may have an educational, as well as a decorative value.

This gift of the Senior class is the first of its kind painted by a local artist and it is hoped the response to Mrs. Heald's request will be ample in giving her material assisting to base her picture.

WITHIN A DECADE

Victory day is at hand and it gives me pleasure to join the many expressing themselves in regard to its success.

American homes, commerce, industries, etc., demonstrate that our national prosperity achieved through the abolition of the liquor traffic, within a decade, exceeds what we could have hoped for within a half century. "Ask the bankers"—that's where he deposits his check now, in lieu of the saloon.

Yes, there's a bit more bootlegging than when bartenders and blind-piggers camouflaged the public. Much of today's homebrew was then accounted as household cannery.

Bartenders saw the gold stream flowing from their tills into coffers overseas, and made a leak in the dike by making and selling "rotgut" and pocketing the cash. (Home trade is moonshine's one good quality.)

Let us rejoice that we haven't government control, as Canada has; poor little sister, she is the biggest bootlegger on earth and many of her people warn us that they have been tricked and that liquor controls the government.

Defense always costs. But, considering our Army and Navy and the official host on our payrolls, who have sworn to defend the constitution, the extra prohibition expenditure, is exasperating. (A lumberman owned a big draft team which stood idle while he hired another team to haul his logs; well it's up to the lumberman and the voter to make the team work.)

When the saloon, which was a cover for men, women, and children, at drink, had its day, Doblin and Dan used to make a beeline for home with the stupefied farmer in the bottom of the wagonbox. Auto and Avi, who have come to stay, don't act that way. Ditch, tree-top, everywhere, anywhere is home sweet home to them.

Long before the crime wave is under control, a rigid prohibition enforcement law shall have been enacted. For, twentieth century folk practically live in their cars. This great multitude is howling for revenge in connection with the death and injury of their loved ones and soon they'll demand a drastic Median law with an unpardonable life sentence for the drinking driver.

In the interim, let's be thankful for our man at the wheel and his farm board. I suppose if we ever give any man 12 years, that man will be Herbert Hoover.

RADIO QUESTION CONCERNING BIG LEAGUE CLUBS REMAINS STATUS QUO

MINOR LEAGUES FARM SYSTEM DISCUSSED, BUT NO ACTION TAKEN

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Dec. 13.—A summary of the three-day session of the major leagues revealed today that the magnates evaded most of the important problems confronting them.

More was left undone than was accomplished by the big league owners in their annual convocation.

A brief resume of the situation follows:

The radio question remains status quo.

The minor league farm system was widely discussed but no action was taken.

Nothing in particular was done about the lively ball except to pass a resolution instructing the baseball manufacturer to take the gloss off the cover.

Zoning of the parks to cut down on home runs was left untouched.

The controversy continues.

A resolution to increase the number of players sent out on option from 8 to 15, and the time from two to three years, was approved.

The outcome of the internal war at Brooklyn threatens to embarrass the entire National League unless it is soon settled. Until some agreement is reached between the warring factions, Brooklyn must remain without a manager for the 1930 season.

Wilbert Robinson's contract as manager expires January 1.

The broadcasting of major league clubs is left strictly up to each club. The two major leagues were unwilling to make a ruling about the radio because some clubs want their games broadcast and others do not.

The real monsters abroad today, as always, are prejudice and intolerance.

K. O. EXPECTED IN McLARNIN, GOLDSTEIN FIGHT

New York, Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—If tonight's welterweight boxing match between Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver, B. C., and Ruby Goldstein of New York is not ended by a knockout long before its scheduled ten rounds, boxing fans are going to be surprised.

McLarnin and Goldstein are touted as the two hardest hitters in the division and the betting is all on a knockout. McLarnin's supporters are offering 9 to 5 he wins the bout and even money that he scores a knockout while Goldstein's backers are willing to bet 1 to 2 that Ruby will stop the far coast Irishman.

Because of the known punching ability of the two principals and their popularity with the fans a $100,000 crowd is in prospect.

JACKIE FIELDS TO DEFEND HIS TITLE

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(U.P.)—Jackie Fields will defend his welterweight boxing title against Jackie Thompson, clever San Francisco negro, at the Chicago Coliseum January 17. The contest will be promoted by Jack Dempsey.

The pair fought in the same arena ten months ago and met once before in San Francisco.

The fight was expected to attract much interest because Fields, whose title was clouded last March, has become undisputed champion in his division due to the fact that Joe Dundee, former titleholder fouled out during their fight in Detroit.

The fight between the two Jackies last spring was the occasion of a panic in the Coliseum during which one person was killed. Dempsey expressed the belief, however, that there would be no recurrence of trouble and that the fight would draw a big "gate."

CHAPTER XXXII.

IN the bank at Brookville Treadwell Pound sat in his office and gazed through his heavy glasses at the village street outside.

There was a one-armed lunch-room opposite the bank and Pound held a mortgage on the building it was in and a lien on the lunch-room's unpretentious furniture and fittings. Its proprietor, a Greek, had not been doing well since he had opened his modest place of business a few weeks before. He was the successor of another unsuccessful restaurateur whom Pound had previously closed out, and had entered into possession with little capital and because the terms Pound had offered him had seemed exceptionally attractive.

But he, like his predecessor, was on the swift road to bankruptcy, and as Pound glanced casually across at his place of refreshment, he reflected that he would soon have the property on his hands again to resell it and collect its value a third time. For Pound was always ready to operate on any money scale—to possess himself of a highly valuable property like Nathalie Van Slaick's or sell a small restaurant keeper out.

He noted as he looked at the Greek's again that for once the establishment was reasonably full of customers. There were eight men in it altogether and all of them in chairs commanding a good view of the bank. But Pound thought nothing of that; only that possibly business was picking up, and that the Greek might escape his clutches after all.

A trace of annoyance flickered over his pale face as he drew his land map, with the state road through Nathalie's country place traced on it in dotted lines, from a drawer of his desk and studied it thoughtfully. Then he put it away and reflected as to how he could contrive to see her. For he had concluded to make her a cautious offer for the place and take title to it rather than wait for the eventuality of his foreclosure suit. He knew that Monty Delaine had sold out and he dreaded that wnoever had bought from Monty might gain an interview with Nathalie before he could. He knew nothing of Ferris for Ferris had bought under a corporate name.

He knew so little of Ferris, indeed, that he did not even know who he was when Ferris came into the bank, glanced at him casually, and then went to a teller's window, changed a bill and departed. He saw Ferris cross to the Greek restaurant and then forget all about him.

But he was instantly alert a few minutes afterward when Nathalie entered.

Her manner had every trace of hurry and some strong emotion as she hurried to the paying teller's window and presented a check, which she had written rapidly at a counter. The teller looked at her, said something and nodded in Pound's direction. Nathalie came at once to Pound.

"I had forgotten," she said, "that an unknown at the window must be identified. Will you arrange it for me, Mr. Pound?"

He observed her air of agitation closely and tried to divine the cause of it before he replied.

He had no guess, of course, that her being in the bank was purely accidental; wholly the result of her incomplete knowledge of roads over which she had just driven in frantic haste.

For at the fork where she lost the car which was racing after her she had herself taken the wrong one of the two roads which it offered her and had unexpectedly come into the village of Brookville. As she found herself in its familiar streets a swift plan had formed in her mind of abandoning the car she was driving at a curb and taking a taxicab, which would be unrecognizable to her pursuers, for the rest of her journey. She had turned into Pound's bank after getting out of her car only so that, if the car behind her came into the village too, she would not be in sight when it arrived. But no taxicabs were about when she reached the bank's entrance, so she thought she could watch for one better from inside the bank than fully exposed in the street.

Her attempt to draw money had been only a subterfuge—to make her presence there more plausible. She had realized, while she had been driving along, that she could make over the bulk of her money to her aunt by writing a check for it. So the check she showed Pound as she asked him to identify her was only for a small amount.

She had carried a pair of pumps down the stairs with her at The First when she crept to Stefano's car in stocking feet. Pound noticed as she stood before him that the straps were unfastened. It went through his mind that her disarray might be due to the particularly uproarious night at The First—he had heard that nights there were like that—and he determined that he would begin negotiations with her immediately, now, while her faculties were probably fuddled.

"Good morning," he said. "I am glad you came in. I find that after all the bank may be prepared to make some concessions in its action if possibly—"

He got no further.

For suddenly the eight men who had been sitting across in the Greek's restaurant came bustling into the bank in a body. Two of them stayed at the door, two of them walked toward tellers' cages, two of them took positions in the middle of the floor, and two of them came to the door of Pound's office. Then all eight drew revolvers.

"Stick 'em up!"

Pound, shaking, obeyed the man who gave him the command. There was utter silence in the bank as all the members of its small staff raised their hands above their heads.

The fellow standing beside the man who covered Pound spoke, quite gently, to Nathalie.

"You ain't in this anywhere, lady. Beat it to the street while the going's good."

Nathalie turned and ran across the bank floor. At the street door one of the men there caught her for a second by an arm:

"Don't run, lady. Just walk out. And when you hit the street keep right on walking and don't look back."

As she plunged, terrified, into the sunlit avenue, she found no excitement in it and no one outside but a couple of taximen. One of them touched his cap to her.

"Taxi, lady?"

He took her by an arm and guided her to his vehicle and as she sank trembling into the recess of it asked her where she wished to go.

"Westbury," she gasped, "to Mrs. Swayne's as fast as you can drive."

"Sure, Flintstone," and he touched his cap again. "I know the place. I'll make it snappy, lady."

He drove quickly out of the village and his car was rolling rapidly along the right road for Flintstone when he stopped it suddenly and got out and looked under the flap of the hood and then went back and unscrewed the cap of his gas tank and peered in.

He came and opened the door beside Nathalie and touched his cap again.

"Wha'dye know, lady? Clean outa gas. But it's all right. Here's another taxi right behind."

He hailed the oncoming car and it halted. The chauffeur of it explained that his car was not a taxicab but a private one but that he would be glad to take the young woman to Westbury as he was going there, too.

The car was a closed one, roomy, expensive. Nathalie felt reassured as she discovered a lady and a gentleman in its rear seat.

The woman graciously extended a helpful hand as the girl entered and took her place between the couple. Nathalie had started to thank them for this courtesy of the road, when the woman reached deftly into a handbag, drew forth a large handkerchief reeking of chloroform and held it securely against the girl's mouth and nose.

PLEA MADE FOR CAREFUL DRIVING

A plea for careful driving is sounded in the weekly road condition bulletin issued by the Minnesota Highway department today. Roads in many sections of the state are icy and slippery, and drivers are urged to use caution, especially at turns, crossings and on hills. Aside from slippery stretches, nearly all the routes are smooth and in good condition, and with reasonable caution people may travel anywhere in the state at fair speed.

In the northeastern counties there are from 12 to 15 inches of snow. All the trunk routes are open, but winds may quickly cause drifts and temporary blockades. Travelers should make allowance for possible delays when planning winter trips.

Detailed reports showing conditions of the trunk highways in the Brainerd Lake Region follow:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—260 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, good—Mottley, good, detour, good—Staples, good—Hawley, paved—Moorhead.

T. H. No. 13—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—103 miles—Good.

CHARLES S. SWEET GIVEN NEW TRIAL

State Supreme Court Gives Ruling in Dispute Over Support of Child

The state supreme court today ordered a new trial for Charles S. Sweet of Crow Wing county whose divorced wife contends he must pay her $50 per month for the support of their child, United Press dispatches from St. Paul report.

The Sweets were married in June, 1923, divorced two years later, and Mrs. Sweet given custody of their child, for whose support the court ordered the husband to provide $50 a month.

Sweet later was charged with abandoning the child when he assertedly refused to make the payment, was convicted, sentenced to the reformatory and later paroled. During the parole he made the payments again but allegedly stopped payment at the expiration of his parole.

Mrs. Sweet signed another complaint against her husband and he was sentenced to prison. His attorneys maintained that the former prosecution precluded action on the second offense, which the supreme court denied but ordered a new trial. In two other decisions the court affirmed the conviction of Frank S. Melin, Duluth, convicted on a charge of second degree manslaughter in connection with the automobile death of Mrs. Clara Youngbauer, and ordered a new trial in the case of Paul Buntin, assertedly injured by a wire of the Eastern Power Company while working near Rock Creek.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS AT D. A. R. MEETING

"Nightingales" of Congregational Church Sing at Home of Mrs. C. D. McKay

HOSTESSES MRS. MCKAY, MRS. FOX

Clad in their pretty scarlet and white page-costumes, the "Nightingales" of the Congregational church, under the direction of Mrs. Louis Knudsen, sang Christmas carols at the December meeting of the D. A. R. at the home of Mrs. C. D. McKay on Holly street, yesterday afternoon. It was a beautiful feature of a memorable meeting.

The hostesses, Mrs. Albert Fox and Mrs. McKay gave emphasis to the fact that the society's work at Ellis Island was the chief topic for consideration by arranging an exhibit of beautiful handiwork from foreign countries. Laces, embroideries, silver, pottery and glassware, carved and enameled woods, from England, Ireland, Germany, Russia, Italy and France, and especially from Norway and Sweden, were in this exhibit, some of them from Mrs. McKay's own collection, some loaned by Mrs. E. J. Quinn, Mrs. L. F. Harkinson, Mrs. P. H. Olson, Miss Hildur Finney and Mrs. Selma Peterson. Following the carol singing, Mrs. McKay suddenly appeared among her guests in the quaint and beautiful costume of a Norwegian house-wife and sang a Finnish Christmas carol. Upon the menu for the 1 o'clock luncheon, which Mrs. A. K. Cohen, Miss Ame Thorp, Mrs. Geo. Denis and Mrs. Otto Gamrodt and Mrs. Alice Whitten of Deerwood assisted in serving, appeared several characteristic Scandinavian dishes prepared by Mrs. P. H. Olson.

Another pretty feature of this luncheon was the presentation of a birthday cake and flowers to the chapter regent, Mrs. Martha Ann Bronson of Merrifield.

Mrs. J. R. Hayes's paper on "Christmas at Ellis Island" brought out the fact that the U. S. government furnishes a nice Christmas dinner to the emigrants detained at Ellis Island and that the D. A. R.'s national chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens White, and the two service workers the society maintains there make little personal gifts to the newcomers, gifts carefully chosen to furnish pleasant occupation for the long hours of waiting and homesickness unavoidable in such a place. Last year there were over 500 emigrants entertained in this manner. Christmas carols were sung in many languages and Mrs. Hayes pictured the gratification these friendly advances must give to the strangers only just within our gates.

Mrs. Irma Camp Hartley gave a graphic and vitally interesting picture of conditions in some of the outlying districts of our own county, showing again the old, old lesson that patriotism, as well as charity, can well begin very close at home.

At the close of the year, the regent called the roll of members death has claimed, and Mrs. W. H. Gemmell presented a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Minerva Elizabeth Polk, one of the society's most distinguished and valued members.

The remainder of the meeting was taken up with routine work and plans for Christmas boxes which are to be given, this year, to the Musical club committee for distribution.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, UNLUCKY DAY

NUMEROUS EXAMPLES CITED OF NOTE OF TROUBLE IN THE DAY

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 13.—(C.P.)—Friday the thirteenth just a few hours away and 13 men in the bull pen at the city jail.

That was too much of a combination for one inmate and he set up such a clamor that the officers feared violence last night.

The inmate insisted that at least one more companion was needed.

Before long several transients without money applied for lodging and were added to the group, quieting the fears of a jinx held by the one inmate.

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Fredrick W. Edell, convicted as the murderer of Mrs. Emeline Harrington in New York, is positive that Friday the 13th is his lucky day.

Just 50 minutes before he was scheduled to begin the death march to Sing Sing prison's death chair, Warden E. Lawes notified him that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt had granted a reprieve until December 30.

Edell was captured at Hopkins, Minn., nearly two years ago.

San Quentin Prison, Cal., Dec. 13.—Two convicted murderers were scheduled to be hanged together on the gallows here today—Friday the 13th.

The men, who had given up all hope of reprieve, were George Costello and Antonio Negra. Their execution was to be the first double hanging in the history of the prison.

Costello was sentenced for the murder of an Oakland bank teller during a robbery, and Negra convicted of the murder of his partner and brother-in-law in a feud over the latter's wife.

New York, Dec. 13.—Too many thirteens just ruined Daniel Cereferi—whose name has 13 letters in it—today. He walked out to his house at 4:13 A. M. He went to his garage at 313 Autumn Avenue. He backed the machine out and was held up.

The robbers obtained:
A pin with 13 stones in it; a wrist watch valued at $113 and $40.13 in cash.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 13.—Twins born here today, Friday the 13th weighed 13 pounds and increased the family to 13 members. A seven-pound boy and six-pound girl arrived in the household of Mr. and Mrs. Gunn Forest, where already there were nine other little Forests.
